

GREGORY: The Life of a Lupus Warrior

Gregory Garland Johnson
Sandra K. Johnson, Ph.D.

Gregory Garland Johnson lived for 35 years. This book chronicles his tragic and uplifting life as a Lupus warrior. In the early years before his diagnosis, Gregory was young, vibrant, full of energy, exhibiting a passion for life and a promising future. After his diagnosis, Gregory was slow and reserved, and his future was unknown. Gregory's story is one of love, compassion and service, from someone who was undergoing tremendous medical hardships. Yet in spite of his condition, Gregory's spirit was warm and inviting. The love of God was in him, and he rose above his circumstances to live a good life, with wonderful friends and family who loved him deeply. As you read the story of this warrior who fought for life, it will encourage the warrior in you to come out, and hearten your inner spiritual flames to illuminate brightly until your day is done.
